Cricket Society of Scotland:

The west region branch of the Cricket Society of Scotland has now confirmed an exciting collection of speakers for the 2018/2019 programme. The programme begins on Monday 8th October, at 7.30pm, at Clydesdale CC, with the guest speaker being Stuart Rayner:

Stuart Rayner was born in Scarborough, beginning his journalistic career as a sports sub-editor on The Liverpool Echo before joining The Journal as a sports writer in 2005. Since 2009 he has also written for sister papers The Newcastle Chronicle and Sunday Sun. "The War of the White Roses" is his first book. It chronicles Yorkshire cricket's civil war in the period between 1968, when Yorkshire County Cricket Club were at the pinnacle of the County game, and 1986, by which time they had become one of the game's also-rans. Stuart examines this corrosive period in Yorkshire's history from a completely neutral standpoint, drawing on interviews with players, committee members, and ordinary members of the club. No-one will be surprised to hear that Geoffrey Boycott is central to the story, but he was also one of those who agreed to be interviewed by Stuart.

For more information about the west region branch, or the programme, please contact either of the Joint Secretaries: Graham Hollier (graham_hollier@sky.com) or Ewen McConville (ejrmcc@gmail.com).

WDCU / Senior Cricket News:

Congratulations to all the clubs, and teams, who have won WDCU leagues and cups during 2018. Special mention must go to Ferguslie CC, as the club has enjoyed great success in Senior competitions, highlighted by winning the WDCU Premier Division. In 2018, the Paisley-based club won:

WDCU Premier Division (1st XI)
PlayerReg McCulloch Cup (1st XI)
Western Cup (2nd XI)

In addition to these successes, the club enjoyed a great run in the Scottish Cup – only losing out to eventual winners Grange CC in a highly competitive semi-final tie.

For more information about everything happening within the WDCU, including the End of Season Forum (Sunday 7th October), please visit the website (www.wdcu.co.uk) or contact Secretary Iain Kennedy: admin@wdcu.co.uk.
